Miami Operations Update

A new concentrate receiving facility is under construction with a completion date of September 2019. The facility will receive copper concentrates by rail and truck from various Freeport-McMoRan facilities. The blending of concentrates provides consistent feedstock composition.

Information about Freeport-McMoRan's tailings facilities and how they are managed is available on FCX.com. The company has a long-standing, robust tailings stewardship program. The program includes a multi-disciplinary team of experts, a technical review board that reviews work and provides an additional layer of assurance that safety standards are met, and best industry practices that include water management, geotechnical monitoring, inspections, and stability analyses. Miami operations tailings facilities are inactive as operations ceased in 1986.

Community Development Update

Each April, employees companywide celebrate giving back to communities through volunteer service. At Miami operations, employees participated in the company's 17th annual Global Volunteer Month by teaming up with both Globe and Miami school districts to set-up Project ACE (All Children Eat), a critical in-school food and clothing bank program for underserved students. The project started with a food and clothing drive, then employee volunteers organized the items received and assisted in preparing school storage spaces. Employee Volunteers will later help pack weekend backpacks with non-perishable food and toiletry items that will provide necessities to in-need students, who rely on school meals for sustenance.

Our Commitment to Social Investing

During the first quarter 2019, Miami operations was proud to partner on the following initiatives and projects:

- University of Arizona – Southern Gila County Water Festival
- Gila County Education Services – STEM Fest
- Pinal Mountain Lions Foundation – Education Appreciation Mixer

The Freeport-McMoRan Foundation is committed to investing in the community through programs and projects that build community capacity.

- ASU Lodestar – Capacity Building Training
- Community Investment Fund: Five grants awarded totaling $304,000
