Freeport-McMoRan has published a Working Toward Sustainable Development \(WTSD\) report annually since 2001. This 2018 WTSD report is meant to provide stakeholders with summary information on our sustainability programs, including policies, management systems and performance data. Community engagement and development is part of our company's culture and, since 2007, we have invested more than $2 billion in social programs and projects. Currently, we are prioritizing our community investments on the development of skills for our workforce and community members. We want to empower people and communities with the skills and opportunities to construct meaningful futures.

Copper Queen Branch: Economic Impact Report

The company commissioned the L. William Seidman Research Institute at Arizona State University to develop annual economic impact reports. Freeport-McMoRan's Copper Queen Branch generated an estimated $49.7 million in economic benefits for Cochise County Arizona in 2018.

Freeport-McMoRan ranks No. 16 on Indeed's Top-Rated Workplace List!

What do our employees have to say about us?

- "Great company to work for. They make you feel part of a team."
- "Equal opportunity for women to succeed ... Great pay and benefits!"
- "The company stresses safety above everything else."

This sampling of 5-star reviews on the Indeed career site showcases why the company earned the No. 16 spot for its 2019 Top 50 Top-Rated Workplaces award.
