Chino Operations:

- In 2024, Chino will look at ramping up their production, which means increasing headcount, continuing to execute the operating plan, and maximizing the mill by running two sags instead of one
- In 2025, Chino aims to be running at full capacity

Tyrone Operations:

Tyrone continues to focus on three fundamental areas:

- Safety – implemented new programs to help drive improved safety results across both sites, such as the red hard hat program that requires new employees with less than one year of service to wear a red hard hat so other employees can provide additional assistance and guidance on work
- Moving tons – executing mine plan and maximizing production
- Leach to the Last Drop initiative – continue side-slope leaching and covering stockpiles with plastic to recover higher levels of copper

Tyrone Environmental:

- Tyrone recently received the Little Rock permit and continues working on the Emma Expansion permit
- Tyrone was certified gold by the Wildlife Habitat Council for demonstrating excellence in corporate conservation

Chino Environmental:

- Chino continues permitting efforts to adjust the North Lampbright Stockpile from a waste to a leach stockpile
- Drilling and other geotechnical work is expected to begin at the tailing's impoundment soon
